

Terminator Technology

A CFFO Policy Statement

Whereas seed companies are researching germination-inhibiting technology for their products and their primary motivation is product control and not the public good;

Whereas the science of out-crossing of the terminator technology to other plant species is not thoroughly understood;

Whereas, if the technology were to get out of control, it would pose a serious risk to food security;

Therefore be it resolved

THAT CFFO oppose the further development and introduction of the germination-inhibiting (terminator) technology into agriculture.
